

MIME Benchmark Release Agreement

NON-EXCLUSIVE END USER LICENSE AGREEMENT (EULA)

This Non-Exclusive License Agreement (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement") is entered into by the Human Affective Computing Group(HAC Group) of Northeastern University (hereinafter referred to as the "Licensor") and the undersigned researcher/research group (hereinafter referred to as the "Licensee").

The MIME (Missing Information in Multimodal Emotion) Benchmark (hereinafter referred to as the "Benchmark") has been developed and maintained by the Licensor. With "Benchmark", we denote the actual data (raw, pre-processed, and degraded video modalities) as well as the Chain-of-Emotion (CoE) annotations and related files. As the technical agent for the release of the Benchmark, the Licensor retains copyright over all data and related files within the Benchmark.

By signing this document, the Licensee, who will make use of the Benchmark, agrees to comply with the following terms and conditions. Any breach of this Agreement entitles the Licensor to immediately deny the Licensee access to the Benchmark and to pursue legal remedies for unauthorized disclosure or publication.

1. Academic, Non-Commercial, and Not-for-Profit Use

The Licensor grants the Licensee a non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable, and limited license. The Benchmark is provided strictly for academic, non-commercial, and not-for-profit research purposes. The Licensee must not use the Benchmark for any commercial or non-research purposes. Non-research purposes include, but are not limited to:

- Proving the efficiency of, training, or testing commercial systems or algorithms.
- Selling data or integrating it into a commercial product.
- Using data samples in advertisements or commercial public media.
- Creating military applications or governmental systems used in public spaces.

2. Distribution and Duplication

Redistribution, republishing, or dissemination of the Benchmark in any form, whether for profit or non-profit purposes, is strictly prohibited without prior written approval by the Licensor. The terms of this Benchmark prohibit uploading the data to the web, copying it to others, or sharing the data with different departments or organizational units within the Licensee's institution. The Licensee shall not create copies for third parties, nor sublicense the Benchmark.

3. Publications and Media

Any publications arising from the use of the Benchmark, including but not limited to academic journal and conference publications, technical reports, and academic presentations, must formally cite the official MIME benchmark paper. The Licensee is permitted to use small portions of data (e.g., screenshots) exclusively for clarifying academic publications or presentations, provided that such use complies with privacy restrictions. The data must not be used in any form for commercial publications, newspapers, or other public media.

4. Privacy and Ethical Use

The Licensee must ensure that the use of the data does not involve or disclose personally identifiable information, whether extracted individually or in combination with other materials (such as images, texts, or content analyses).

5. Modification and Endorsement

Modification of the Benchmark structure or annotations by licensees is not permitted. The name of the Licensor may not be used to endorse or promote products derived from this Benchmark without specific prior written permission.

6. Audit, Misuse, and Termination

Upon request, the Licensee must provide reasonable access to the Licensor to audit the usage of the Benchmark to ensure compliance with this Agreement. If the Licensor has a reasonable doubt that the Licensee is not acting in accordance with this EULA, the Licensee will be immediately denied further use of the Benchmark. The Licensor retains the sole authority for the final interpretation of this Agreement and reserves the right to modify or terminate access to the Benchmark at any time. Upon termination, the Licensee shall cease using the Benchmark and delete all copies in their possession.
